

RESEARCH STUDY

We are conducting a study to test the benefits of an employment intervention, the Self-Determined Career Development Model.

We need:

Young Adults with Autism (ages 16 to 24) who are interested in employment.

The intervention is designed to help people learn to develop and achieve goals related to employment. The study will involve meeting with a researcher for hour-long sessions one to three times a week. The study will last for approximately twelve weeks. We will work with the individuals with autism and their families or caregivers throughout the intervention.
