How To Get The Most Out Of Lectures

Lectures provide an orientation to a topic and help highlight what is important to learn.

- Arrive on time.

- Sit in the front of the room.

- Focus on a list of questions concerning what you want to learn. These questions, when answered, should provide essential information necessary to understanding concepts or terms.

- Maintain attention. Learning must be active and purposeful.

- Identify the most important ideas and those likely to be on the exam.

- Take efficient notes.

- Listen for what the instructor emphasizes and repeats during the lecture. Especially note where examples or anecdotes have been given.
