

APPENDIX G

TERMINAL OBJECTIVES OF THE MASTER'S PROGRAM

Having completed most (if not all) of your courses for the Master's program, how well did the nursing courses meet the program objectives? We value your opinion and comments as we strive for excellence in our Master's program.

Please complete this evaluation by darkening the letter on the computer scoring card that best describes your opinion of each item:

Darken A if Strongly Agree
Darken B if Agree
Darken C if Disagree
Darken D if Strongly Disagree

Please list any comments or suggestions for future changes on the reverse side of this page. Your input is important! Evaluation data will be collected at the conclusion of each semester by the Office of Academic Affairs. All comments will be transcribed and results will be shared as aggregate data with the School of Nursing Curriculum Committee and faculty.

As a graduating Master's student, you are able to:

1. Synthesize advanced knowledge of concepts, theories, principles, and research from nursing, the liberal arts, and the natural and behavioral sciences as it relates to a specialized area of nursing.
2. Apply nursing therapeutics based on standards of practice to meet the health care needs of client systems in relation to changes in their internal and external environments.
3. Integrate ethical, legal, economic and cultural considerations and personal, professional, and client system values in the application of the art and science of nursing.
4. Demonstrate professional values in advanced nursing roles.
5. Collaborate with colleagues in nursing and other disciplines to meet the health needs of client systems in varied health care delivery systems.
6. Generate research questions from theory and practice and evaluate research findings for use in nursing.
7. Influence health policy and the delivery of health care that is responsive to societal trends and to changing client system needs by evaluating and proposing alternatives.

Adopted 12-16-94

Revised 11-25-02