Telehealth Lunch ECHO:

Byte-sized Learning

SESSIONS Noon-1pm

WHEN:

Third Friday of the Month beginning June 19th through October 16th, 2020 (12-1pm)

REGISTRATION:

bit.ly/TelehealthECHO

OPEN TO:

While helpful to everyone, this series is specifically designed for organizations and providers who have started using telehealth and are interested in learning more and understanding how to support patients, providers and staff in the transition.

CASE STUDIES:

Whether you are new to telehealth or have established telehealth programs, we want to hear about your experiences and needs related to telehealth utilization in response during rapid implementation. Please consider sharing your telehealth journey, questions, challenges/barriers, solutions and resources with the broader ECHO collaborative learning experience.

At the conclusion of this ECHO series participants should be able to:

- Discuss current state and federal telehealth policies relating to telehealth use and reimbursement
- Recognize the benefits and challenges of engaging in telehealth
- Describe the potential impact on the organization, the providers and the patients
- Develop strategies to identify and address the challenges associated with telehealth
- Identify possible information and data sources to use in practice improvement
