

The KU Open Access Author Fund

Annual Report (July 2018 - June 2019)

The KU One University Open Access Author Fund (OAAF) had an active year receiving many applications and publishing more articles in open access journals for which the OAAF provided at least partial funding. The number of applications received remained stable for several years but declined slightly in FY19. However, competition for the awards has increased due to rising article processing charges making the criteria and point system even more important. All the articles paid for and published so far have been placed in the KU ScholarWorks institutional repository under “Open Access.”

Included in this report are the statistics for FY 2019 in the following tables:

Table 1. Numbers of applications and awards

Table 2. Total amount spent and a break down by campus

We’ve also included appendices covering the fund from Inception (Oct. 2012) through June 2019:

Appendix A A Short History of the First Six Years of the Open Access Author Fund

Appendix B Cumulative Statistics

Appendix C Highlights of Article-Level Metrics for Selected Papers Funded by the OAAF

Appendix D Full List of Published Papers Funded by the OAAF

Appendix E Applications Received by Unit

Table 1. Statistics for FY 2019

When compared to the figures from the previous fiscal year (July 2017-June 2018), there was a 17% decrease in the number of applications received and therefore a smaller number of applications that were rejected. The number of awards that were offered and paid were similar.

	2018-19	2017-18
1. Applications Received	52	63
2. Applications Rejected *	21	31
3. Awards Offered	31	32
4. Awards Paid 	20	18

Note: Five of the authors who were offered awards in FY 19 haven't used them as of July 19, 2019, so the number of "Awards Paid" might still go up. The numbers in Lines 2 and 3 above add up to the total number of applications received (Line 1). Line 4 is a sub-set of Line 3.

* Main reasons why applications were rejected

1. Other applications received higher point totals and there wasn't enough money to fund all eligible applicants during that month's competition. (By far the most common reason.)
2. The author, journal, or publisher did not meet the OAAF criteria.

** Main reasons why awards were not used

1. The manuscript was rejected by the editor / editorial board of the journal.
  2. The author did not use the award before it expired (4 months from the award notification date).

Table 2. Financial Statistics for FY 2019

Amount allocated for FY19	$25,000
Awards not redeemed in FY18	$6,573
Total amount available in FY18	$31,573

As of the end of FY 19, we had $8,936 remaining in the fund, which was rolled over to FY 20.

As of July 19, 2019, there is $5,136 in reserve for awards made during FY 19 for articles still in the submission process. The portion of those funds not used before the four-month expiration date will be returned to the OAAF for use in FY 20.

Awards by Campus (as of July 19, 2019)

KU Medical Center (All Locations)	$10,310	58.9%
KU Lawrence / Edwards	$7,191	41.1%
Total Expenditures	$17,501

Note: Total does not include $5,136 for awards offered but not used.
Dollar amounts have been rounded to the nearest whole dollar.
Percentages have been rounded to equal 100%

Amount Paid per Award (as of July 19, 2019)

Highest	$1,500
Lowest	$450
Average / Mean	$875
Median	$873

What Publishers Charge Authors

The amount of money publishers charged authors applying for awards this year ranged from a high of $5,000 to a low of $450. Fifteen of the fifty-two charges were over our $1500 maximum award amount.

Highest	$5,000
Lowest	$410
Average / Mean	$1,447
Median	$1,125

A Short History of the Open Access Author Fund at KU

The One University Open Access Author Fund (OAAF) at the University of Kansas is administered by the OAAF Review Team composed of library staff at the KU campus in Lawrence and at the KU Medical Center's Dykes Library in Kansas City. Oversight is provided by the sponsors who support the fund – KU's Provost, KU's Vice Chancellor for Research, and the KU Medical Center's Vice Chancellor for Research.

Detailed criteria and eligibility standards, an online application form, a list of awards made, and additional information is available at this URL: <http://library.kumc.edu/authors-fund.xml>. The OAAF began its first two-year pilot program in October of 2012 with $50,000 allocated equally by the Lawrence campus and the Medical Center. During that first pilot, which closed at the end of June 2014, applications were reviewed on a first-come, first-served basis. This resulted in the entire years' worth of funds being dispersed within four to six months of the opening of the fund.

To ensure that money would be available for an entire fiscal year during the second pilot phase (2014-2016), the OAAF Review Team solicited the advice of the members of the Faculty Consultation Group. Additional criteria, new eligibility standards, and different review periods were developed. In the redesigned competitive process, all the applications received during one month are now reviewed within the first seven business days of the next month. Various levels of weighted priority are now assigned as follows:

- A. Author's status (graduate student, pre-tenured faculty, early career research staff, etc.)
- B. Author's access to grants or other funding
- C. Author's record of previous OA awards received

This second phase of the pilot began in November 2014 with a new allocation of $50,000 to cover 2014-2016. Awards were made using the new criteria and procedures. The fund has subsequently received $50,000 in July 2016 and July 2018. The fund will continue to distribute awards through June 2020.

The number of fund applications has ranged between two and nine each month, out of which an average of one to three are approved. All of the articles that are paid for (at least in part) by the OAAF are now available for viewing at the OAAF website here – <http://library.kumc.edu/oa-fund-awards.xml>. The same articles are also added to the KU ScholarWorks Open Access community at: <https://kuscholarworks.ku.edu/handle/1808/11673>.

The OAAF is marketed to faculty and graduate students through our website, social media, email, and group presentations.

Future Plans for the One University Open Access Author Fund

We are currently entering Year 2 of a two year cycle for the OA Fund. Year 2 funding will be allocated monthly between July, 2019 and June 30, 2020. In the Spring of 2020, an assessment of the program will be done to inform decisions on whether to continue the fund and the amount of funding that can be contributed by our sponsors. The OA fund administrators will continue to update the statistics found in this report to evaluate the impact of the fund on KU authors' ability to publish in open access journals. A multi-year report will be submitted to our funders to assist them with a renewal decision for FY21 and beyond.

Number of Applications

The number of applications stayed steady for the first three years prior to a 65% increase in the fourth year of the pilot. In FY19 we saw a 17% decline in applications.

What the Publishers Charge Authors

Over the course of the fund's existence, the amount of money publishers charged authors applying for the OAAF awards has ranged from a low of $80 to a high of $5,200. The average rates have steadily risen each year.

Amounts Authors Applied For

Authors have applied for amounts of money ranging from the OAAF's maximum of $1500 to a minimal $180, with the maximum amount being the one most often requested.
